

International Practicum in Norway

Spring semester 4 - 22 March 2024

TWO AVAILABLE SPOTS

Stipend: CAD $550 per student Application deadline: 20 October 2023, 4:00 PM

PROGRAM AND PLACEMENT

Two students from Queen's University will be placed together at Løpsmark school in Bodø, Norway for 3 weeks. This placement may also include a creative group project, assigned by the hosting institution.

Bodø, Norway

Home to the Northern Lights in winter and the Midnight Sun in summer, Bodø is a vibrant city north of the arctic circle. Recently named the European Capital of Culture for 2024, this city of 50,000 boasts a rich tapestry of history, art, music and culture – from stone age carvings and Viking graves to music festivals and state-of-the-art concert halls. Beyond the appeal of its urban centre, Bodø is especially famous for its outdoor offerings and adventure sports, including:

- Caving in the Northern Hemisphere's largest cathedral cave, Svarthammarhola.
- Ocean rafting and scuba diving in the world's largest tidal current, Saltstraumen.
- Free skiing on one of many 1,000m peaks.
- Hiking up Keiservarden, Bodø's most famous viewpoint.
- Glacier wandering on Svartisen.
- Snorkeling with Orcas in Vesterålen.
- Surfing at Unstad in Lofoten.
- Climbing the peaks of Børvasstindan.

Accommodations

Representatives from CANOPY and Nord University will help organize accommodations in Bodø; students will be expected, however, to make the reservations themselves. Possibilities for lodging include: student dormitories (approx. NOK 4900-5500 for 3 weeks, depending on room type and location) or AirBnB units (prices vary). Most available accommodations will be located within a short bus ride of the practicum placement.

Support and Funding

Each participating student will receive a stipend in the amount of CAD $550 from the CANOPY project to assist with travel and accommodation costs for this placement.

Assessment

- Teacher candidates must ensure that their IAP Supervisor is in contact with the Practicum Office at Queen's University.
- While this is a flexible practicum opportunity, IAP Supervisors will still verify hours, attendance, activities, and other pertinent information about the candidate and their performance to verify a satisfactory completion of the IAP.

Additional Opportunities

Beyond the practicum placement, students from Queen's may optionally choose to join the Faculty of Education and Arts at Nord University for certain events, classes, or tours during their time in Bodø. There is no credit associated with these additional activities. Students can request a list of available opportunities before their visit.

Eligibility and Requirements

- Students must be enrolled in the final year of the Queen's Bachelor of Education
- Selected students must each complete 90 hours towards their alternative practicum
- Due to prevailing entry rules, Nord University requires an additional criteria
 - students must be citizens of a country with an entry agreement with Norway

Application Process

To apply, write a letter of motivation (a maximum of 300 words) explaining why you would like to participate in an IAP placement in Norway. You are free to formulate the letter as you wish but you must address the following two questions:

- What do you expect to gain and/or learn by participating?
- Why do you think the 2023 CANOPY theme – Indigenous Studies, Diversity, and Inclusion – is important to teacher education?

Please submit your completed application by email to CANOPY canopy@nord.no no later than 4:00 PM on 20 October 2023.

THE CANOPY PROJECT

The Canada-Norway Partnership

This international alternative practicum opportunity is made possible by the DIKU-funded partnership between Queen's University and Nord University, entitled CANOPY (The Canada-Norway Pedagogy Partnership for Innovation and Inclusion in Education). This partnership aims to address, from a holistic and international perspective, the most pressing issues currently facing the education sector to better prepare the next generation of teachers. Connecting educational research, classroom experience, student mobility, and institutional management, CANOPY will develop global competencies in pedagogy, research, and training through international collaboration. Innovation and Inclusion are the guiding principles of CANOPY, and the initiatives of each year of the project will focus on a different priority area comprehended by these principles:

2020/21: Educational Leadership

2022: Digital Innovation and Educational Technology

2023: Indigenous Studies, Diversity, and Inclusion

2024: Exceptional Learners

Through the IAP component of CANOPY, the project endeavours to offer teacher-candidates the opportunity to immerse themselves in the educational environment of the partner region and to acquire an international perspective on teaching and learning that extends beyond their typical experience within local provincial guidelines and curricula. Practicum placements, in particular, will help teacher-candidates cultivate intercultural awareness, craft self-reflexive pedagogy, and assemble a broader network of colleagues and mentors. At the institutional level, such arrangements will ultimately improve International Practicum programs, which are an increasingly influential aspect of teacher training worldwide. Retrospective reflection with practicum exchange students, along with ongoing logistical planning between international practicum coordinators, will assist Faculties with refining programme parameters, establishing evaluation equivalences, and identifying innovative pathways.

Nord University and the Faculty of Education and Arts Global challenges demand new insight, innovative solutions and local legitimacy. Nord University is a young university with strong regional ties and a global perspective. We are committed to delivering relevant educational programmes and research, with a focus on blue & green growth, innovation & entrepreneurship, as well as welfare, health & education.
