We could not have had better teachers. Janice Bland and Nayr Ibrahim are both highly knowledgeable and inspiring in their field.

There is a good range of different classroom activities, and I have become aware of several different approaches to using literature, art, creative activities etc. The focus on literature has been very helpful to me, as I personally don't like overanalysing texts, but now I have also learned approaches which are more interesting both to myself, and hopefully to my current and future students as well. What I liked best about the course is how much of it is relevant in all language teaching.
